Banksy

Imagine a city where graffiti wasn't illegal, a city where everybody could draw wherever they liked. Where every street was awash with a million colours and little phrases. Where standing at a bus stop was never boring. A city that felt like a party where everyone was invited, not just the estate agents and barons of big business. Imagine a city like that and stop leaning against the wall – it's wet.

Edgware Rd, London 2005. Lasted six days

After spending months thinking I was clever painting a picture of crows attacking cctv cameras I found real plastic birds in a joke shop for six pounds each.

'I heard they was put there by the police so you look up and a computer can scan your face' a stallholder on Portobello market told me when I was taking photographs.

Shoreditch High Street, lasted 4 weeks. Portobello Road, 6 weeks. Tottenham Court Road, 2 weeks
